— "Strange things are afoot at the circle K . . ."

— "It's a jagular," said Pooh.

"What do they do?" asked Piglet, hoping they wouldn't.

— "Pay your fines, Read the signs, Connect the lines, Save your dimes, Trim your wig, Take your pick, Try your tricks, Impress the chicks, Watch the feds, Pay your debt, Live in fame, Die in shame, Catch the flu, Burn the stew, Shine your shoes, Sing the Blues."

— Jerry Garcia, 1973

Tony Adler

Most people think great god will come from the sky, Take away everything, make everybody feel high. But if you knew what life is worth, You would look for yours on earth. — Bob Marley
Going away from the big city,

Of all the evils of this town,
And of himself and those around

Sanders Adu

"Freedom is a road seldom traveled by the multitude" . . . Public Enemy

— I have too many friends here to name them all, so I will say goodbye to all of you collectively. These years at Andover have flown by so fast, that sometimes you forget. All the good times and bad times we have had here have made us all grow. Continue to keep strong and keep alive, and let's work to make the world a better place — Peace especially to my family: G.C., B.B., J.T., M.H., R.C., D.S., W.T., S.O., A.F., T.A., (you know who you are toyster), and finally Dr. Avery.

Maribel Aguilar

"Los Angeles is the place to be."

Edward Ahn

"I like thinking big. I always think big. To me it's very simple: if you're going to be thinking anyway, you might as well think big. Most people think small because most people are afraid of success, afraid of making decisions, afraid of winning. And that gives people like me a great advantage." — Donald Trump, The Art of the Deal
 "And now I felt this bolshy big hollow inside my plot, feeling surprised too at myself. I know what was happening, O my brothers. I was like growing up." — Anthony Burgess, A Clockwork Orange

Jen Amis

While the rain of your fingertips falls,
 while the rain of your bones falls,
 and your laughter and marrow fall down,
 you come flying. — Pablo Neruda

 — A. Lennox

Bruce Anderson

"Yea, whatever . . ."

Heather Anderson

You have a magic carpet
That will wiz you through the air,
To Spain or Maine or Africa
If you just tell it where.
So will you let it take you
Where you've never been before,
Or will you buy some draped to match
And use it on your floor?

— Shel Silverstein

James Badway
"Suck it up, Alice"

Zayde Antrim

She was the single artificer of the world
In which she sang. And when she sang, the sea,
Whatever self it had, became the self
That was her song, for she was the maker. Then we,
As we beheld her standing there alone,
Knew that there never was a world for her
Except the one she sang and, in singing, made.

Guess who I saw? (so? . . . not!!!) STOWE HOUSE!?"

Jacob Barton

There are those who have little and give it all. These are believers in life and the bounty of life, and their coffers are never empty. There are those who give with joy, and that joy is their reward. There are those who give with pain and that pain is their baptism. And then there are those who give and know not pain in giving, nor do they seek joy. They give as in yonder valley the myrtle breathes its fragrance into space. Love and thanks to all who have given to me.

"And just as I'd taken the highest tree in the wood," continued the Pigeon, raising his voice to a shriek, "and just as I was thinking I should be free of them at last, they must needs come wriggling down from the sky! Ugh, Serpent!"

"But I am not a Serpent, I tell you!" said Alice. "I'm a . . . I'm a . . ."

If you think you are beaten you are,
If you think you dare not, you don't,
If you'd like to win, but you think you can't,
It's almost a cinch that you won't.
If you think you'll lose, you're lost,

Success begins with a fellow's will,
It's all a state of mind.

All my life I had been looking for something, and everywhere I turned someone tried to tell me what it was. Life's ambition
Do not let your high hopes desert you
What ever they may be,
Look up above
And travel yonder
Over new and ambitious thoughts ponder.

And never will you regret,
The contemplated steps you have taken
All the worthy goals you have set.

Take the time you need
While planting the precious seed
I plead with you
Stand firm
Let nothing obscure the path
Leading to triumph and joy
Look up never look back as you journey on your way.

As well as indecisiveness
Pay no heed to these my frined
One day you will acknowledge and be thankful

Most of what I really need to know about how to live and what to do and how to be I learned in kindergarten. Wisdom was not at the top of the graduate school mountain, but there in a sandpile at Sunday School.
These are the things I learned: Share everything. Play fair. Don't hit people. Put things back where you found them. Clean up your own mess.
Don't take things that aren't yours. Say you're sorry when you hurt somebody. Wash your hands before you eat. Flush. Warm cookies and cold milk are good for you. Live a balanced life — learn some and think some and draw and paint and sing and dance and play and work every day some. Take a nap every afternoon. When you go out into the world, watch out for traffic, hold hands and stick together. Be aware of wonder.

"When you look every man and every woman in their eyes and you recognize a brother and a sister. If you are not able to do that, it's still night, even if the sun is shining in the sky." I lifted my eyes and I met yours. I saw the dawn, the day was rising.

Christina,
 On your first day of school, it seems not so long ago
 You set out to meet the world with eyes open and aglow.
 You met each new challenge in your own very special way
 With patience, courage and fortitude, steadily growing day by day.
 It's our honor to have shared your victories, an occasional defeat
 And we've proudly watched you rally every new experience you greet.
 You've brought happiness and joy, lighting your world like the sun
 And we know of what we've seen, that you've only just begun.
 We send you off from your days at Andover with a loud and hearty cheer
 For all you've accomplished in a very fast four years.
 And though it's time to say good-bye to our precious little girl
 We find in her place Christina, a young woman, proud and real

 Mom, Poppy, Peter and all your family congratulate you, embrace you and send you into your world with love.

Dear Burke:

With your sensitivity, honesty and sense of humor; you enrich us all.

DESIDERATA

by
Max Ehrmann

Go placidly amid the noise & the haste, & remember what peace there may be in silence. As far as possible without surrender be on good terms with all persons. Speak your truth quietly & clearly; and listen to others, even to the dull & the ignorant; they too have their story. Avoid loud & aggressive persons, they are vexations to the spirit. If you compare yourself with others, you may become vain or bitter; for always there will be greater & lesser persons than yourself. Enjoy your achievements as well as your plans. Keep interested in your own career, however humble; it is a real possession in the changing fortunes of time. Exercise caution in your business affairs; for the world is full of trickery. But let this not blind you to what virtue there is; many persons strive for high ideals; and everywhere life is full of heroism. Be yourself. Especially, do not feign affection. Neither be cynical about love; for in the face of all aridity & disenchantment it is as perennial as the grass. Take kindly the counsel of the years, gracefully surrendering the things of youth. Nurture strength of spirit to shield you in sudden misfortune. But do not distress yourself with dark imaginings. Many fears are born of fatigue & loneliness. Beyond a wholesome discipline, be gentle with yourself. You are a child of the universe, no less than the trees & the stars; you have a right to be here. And whether or not it is clear to you, no doubt the universe is unfolding as it should.

Therefore be at peace with God, whatever you conceive Him to be. And whatever your labors & aspirations, in the noisy confusion of life keep peace with your soul. With all its sham, drudgery & broken dreams, it is still a beautiful world. Be cheerful. Strive to be happy.

With all of my love, J.P.

Was what you'd like to be.

Your net game was just great.
At 18 we will wait to see
Just what's to be your fate.

Your grandfathers each had a poem
Their fathers said to them.
He have it on a wall at home
And think it's quite a gem:

"BE GOOD, BE GOOD, ME FATHER SAID

Nazia is a different person from other children, she has always been different. I am proud of her ambition and the driving force in her, she has been trying for the last five years to go to America to study at Harvard Business School and at last her dream has been fulfilled when she found the place at the Phillips Academy through the English Speaking Union. When she was 12 years old, in school all the children were asked to write an essay about their future dreams. She did not know much about the profession at the time but in her subconscious mind the dream was there, she wrote that she wanted to be the Prime Minister of England so that has been her idea and dream all the way.

I am proud of her and I congratulate her for these achievements and I promise to give her my full support all the way to Harvard Business School.

Thank you for the many years of teaching, coaching and support.
Good luck in the future, we will miss you.

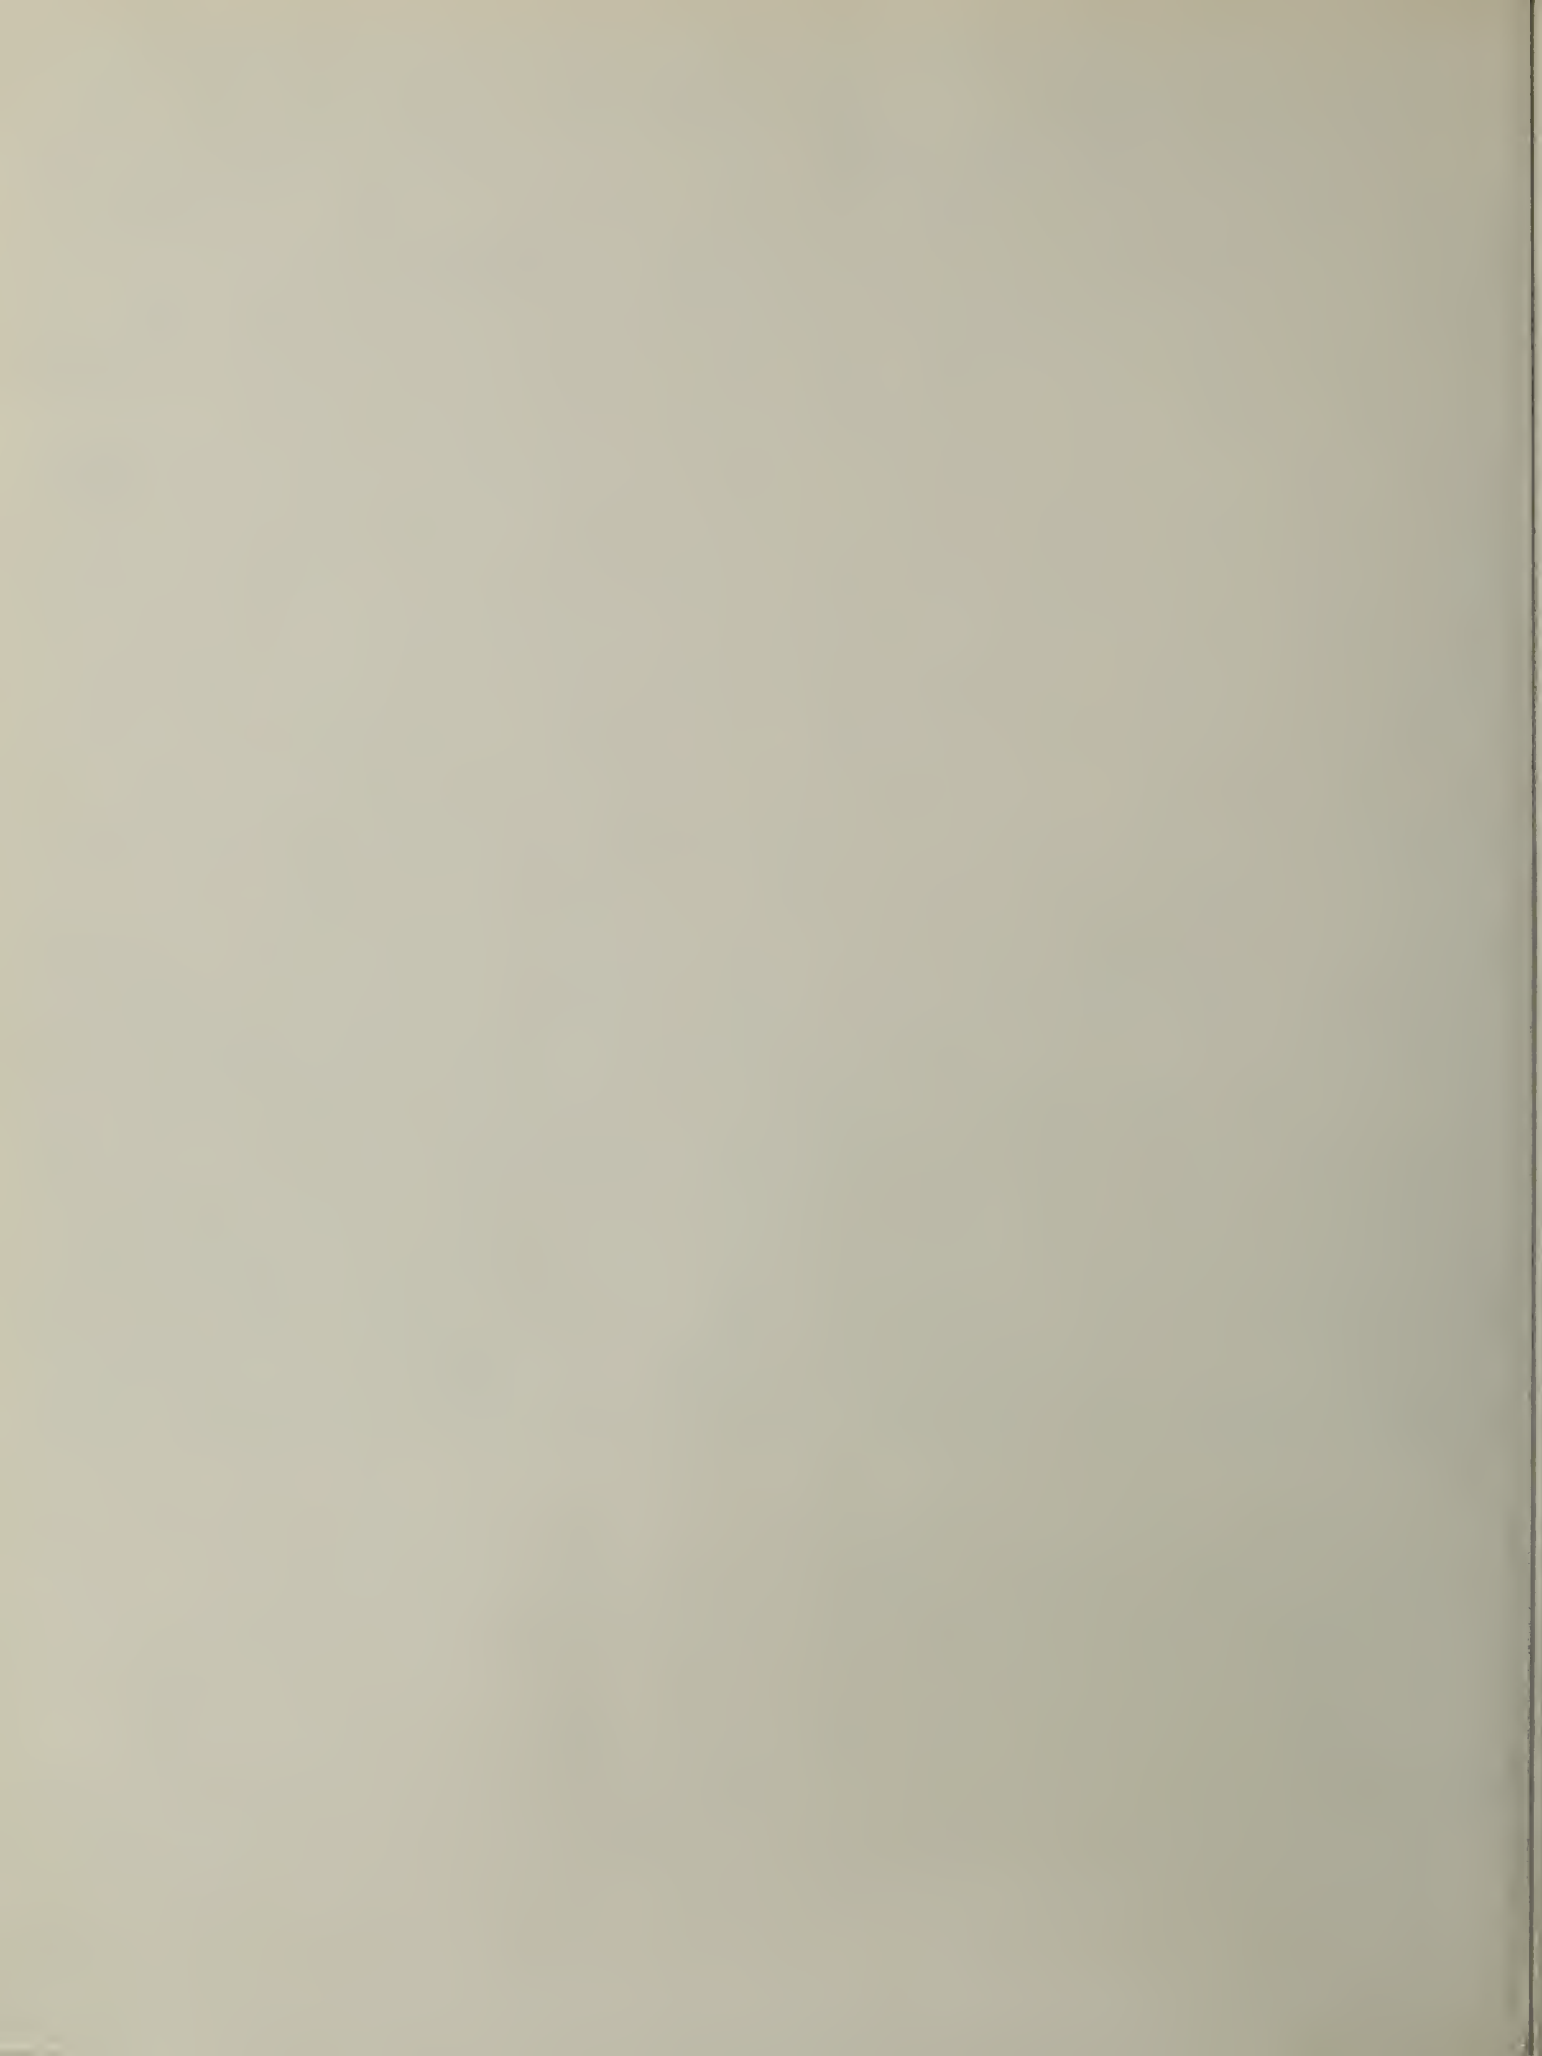

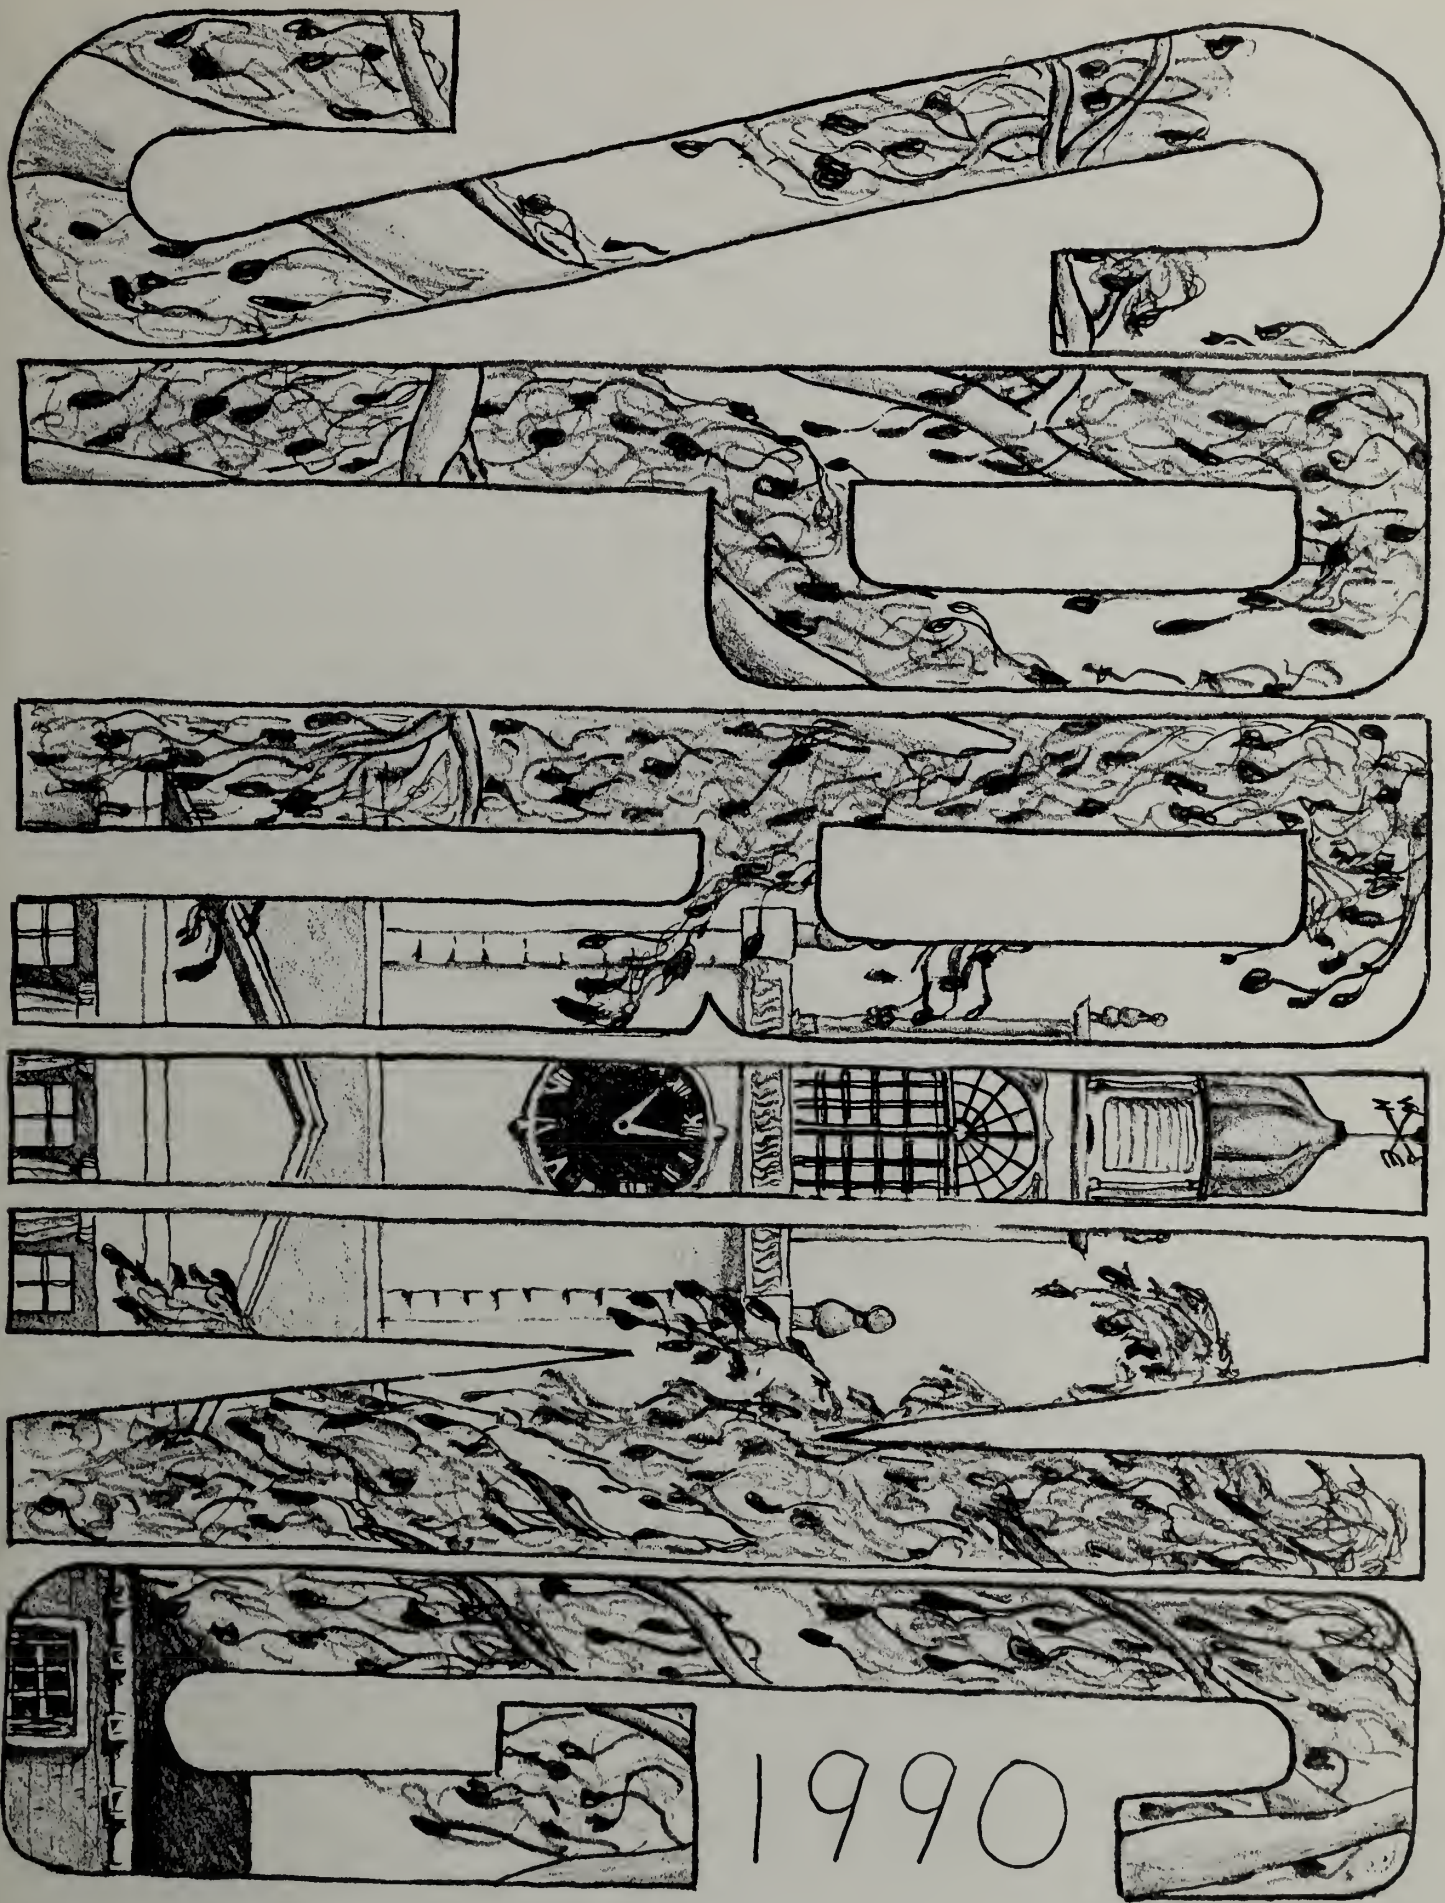

"Drums are my main hobby and passion. They're an escape and a way of releasing energy. When I play, the whole world is shut off and it's just me and my drums. No pressures or worries, just the groove. I'll listen to a song on the radio or listen to works by my favorite drummer and try to play like them. Drums represent my dreams also. It sounds pretty corny to say you want to be a rock star but that's what I really want to be. I want to be a respected professional musician, doing what I love and having fun."
